Logo

Lock-Up

The Artory logomark is a graphic representation of the letter 'A', rendered using a series of different coloured lines. The basis for the logo is a triangular grid of ten circles, which have been extended to create a connection between points. This acts as both a reference to the nature of Artory, and serves as a graphic device which can change and evolve as required (see 1.6)

Logo

Colour

The Artory 'A'-logomark is made up from ten different coloured elements, with each colour representing a guide category

Tagline Lock-Up (Primary)

The Artory logo has also been designed to work with the associated tagline 'Plymouth Culture Guide'. Although created as a logo lock-up, where possible the tagline should be separated from the main logo to allow breathing space between the two elements (see 4.1)

Tagline Lock-Up (Secondary)

In some instances, the secondary (horizontal) version of the tagline lock-up may also be used - although in general the primary (vertical) option should always take priority

Using the Logomark

The Artory logomark was designed to be playful and ever-evolving. The mark may be used by itself (without the logotype), and can also be manipulated/abstracted to create patterns, diagrams or animations

TYPEFACES

Typefaces

Primary

Artory's primary typeface should mainly be used (caps only) for titling and/or smaller text information such as labels and credits. When using Gravostyle Basic, tracking should be set to 75 (thousandth of an em)

GRAVOSTYLE BASIC REGULAR

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
! ? # % & £ @ ( ) 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

GRAVOSTYLE BASIC BOLD

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
! ? # % & £ @ ( ) 0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

Typefaces

Secondary

Montserrat should be used when legibility is important (i.e. body text), plus for all other instances where Gravostyle may not be appropriate (i.e. App or website design)

Mark

The Art Miles logomark duplicates the Artory 'A' to create a graphic representation of the letter 'M'. In contrast to the multi-coloured Artory palette, the Art Miles logo should be reproduced in black, grey or white only

Lock-Up

The Art Miles logo can be used by itself (as an icon for example), or as a complete logo lock-up including the logotype
